

Voters to nominate state candidates

By TOM MILLS
NEWS EDITOR

Green County voters will cast their ballots Tuesday in the primary election to choose candidates for state offices.

Polls are open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and voters in line at 6 p.m. will be allowed to vote. Turnout is expected to be light as contentious campaign on the Republican governor's primary has turned off many voters. Green County's top election official, County Clerk Billy Joe Lowe, predicts local turnout to be about 20 percent. James Comer, the Republican gubernatorial candidate who served as Green County's Kentucky House of Representatives member for more than 10 years, said statewide the turnout is expected to be 12 percent.

During Tuesday's voting, one precinct, east Greensburg, will have a new location. Previously, voters in that precinct cast their ballots at the Green County Middle School. However, since the school district needed to make up days from inclement winter weather, the polling location will be moved to the Board of Education office on East Hodgenville Avenue.

Republican voters will have four races on which to vote and Democrats will have three.

In the Republican gubernatorial race James R. Comer, Hal Heiner, Will T. Scott and Matt Bevin vie for the nomination to the state's top elected position. For the Democrats Geoff Young and Jack Conway contest the nomination.

The Republicans will also make choices for candidates for attorney general, state

Comer stumps in Green Co.

Says allegations by C-J not true

Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture James Comer brought his campaign for the governor's office Thursday to Green County, a city which helped give his start in state politics by electing him to the Kentucky House of Representatives.

"Fifteen years ago you took a chance on a young guy who was only 27 at the time and you've stuck with and supported me and Green County is a special place for me and I appreciate the friendships we've developed," he said, speaking to supporters at the Old Courthouse in Greensburg. "When I filed for governor you stepped up to the plate."

Comer referenced a story published by the Louisville Courier Journal last week, that some consider a hit piece, dredging up allegations from Comer's college girlfriend more than 20 years ago.

"It's been an interesting 48-hours and strange things happen and they happen for a reason," he said. "Over the last three weeks we started spending money and had gotten the lead again. Everything was clicking, we were trending up and starting to pull away, and then

Pipeline comment deadline is Monday

The deadline to submit comments about a proposed pipeline repurposing project that will pass through Green County is Monday.

Vote

To the Editor:

I would like to encourage each and every one of you to exercise your right to vote Tuesday, May 19.

This is a very important right that, in my opinion, should be exercised each time there is an election. We need to make our voices heard.

Regardless of whom you choose to support, please take a few minutes and go to the polls Tuesday, May 19.

Statewide predictions project a 12-15% turnout. Let's show that Green Countians still take this right very seriously.

Thanks,
John H. Frank

Your vote is needed

Dear editor,

I know from the daily mailings and phone calls coming to your house, you are well aware of the Primary Election on May 19.

Although no local races appear on the ballot, this election is crucial in determining the future for the state of Kentucky. Many of the state offices will have new faces beginning in January of 2016, and we have the opportunity to help select them.

Most of us will never meet these individuals, but the decisions they make at their position will impact all of us. It is easy to be disgusted with politics in general, and with the actions on the federal scene, I understand. However, many individuals have given their time, and in some cases their life, for all residents of this nation to have the freedom and elect their leaders.

I am asking for all to exercise their right by honoring these individuals who have sacrificed so much, by going to the polls and voting on May 19. Please join me and vote for the individuals you feel best represents you, this county, and this state.

Sincerely,
Sean D. Curry

ing place this Saturday, May 16, in downtown Greensburg and reassure everyone that council members will continue their original mission to create an awareness and appreciation of the arts.

The council members are volunteers whose interests and talents vary. And with this diversity in members, we have noticed that other areas of focus are repeatedly being mentioned since the first Art in the Alley more than ten years ago.

We all hope to encourage more public awareness by adding these concerns to our work agenda and finding a way to be creative as we continue to bring more attention to the talents of our community.

We realize that art varies with each person's interpretation. Again this year, we will focus on music and artistic creations, but we also want to bring attention to other "talents," such as the talents of the small businesses and their commitment to the community.

We also respect the historic buildings in our county and we are so pleased to share a tour of a home right here in town, the John Barret house and cemetery, now owned by Jim and Patsy Sperry.

Asthehomecelebrates being 200 years old, the Sperrys have graciously invited everyone to join them, have a tour and learn some local history as well. The tour is from 12:30 until 4 CDT.

This Saturday is a very special day. It is Armed Forces Day, a day to recognize and pay tribute to men and women who serve now or are veterans of the United States' armed forces which includes Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard, National Guard and Reserve units. To recognize the military is exactly what we plan to do. None of these activities that we take for granted would be possible without the sacrifices of our armed forces and their families.

We have organized two times to walk as a group along the Merchant Mile for a public display of our sincere appreciation for the service provided by troops and their families.

Think about inviting friends to come along or better yet, challenge friends, coworkers, volunteers in various civic organizations, preachers challenge other preachers and see how many will line the sidewalks.

Since last year's Art in the Alley, we have noticed through social media the hunger to hear memories of those who grew up in Greensburg and other small towns, as well as the desire to help Greensburg revive the charm of yesteryear, but also benefit from modern technology.

Burglars struck a series of residences in Green County early Monday and Tuesday, including entering one house while residents were sleeping. Green County Sheriff Robby Beard said burglars took guns from a car belonging to EvanShuffett at his Springwood Drive residence in Summersville sometime before dawn

Monday. Burglars struck again at two residences on Thurlow Road early Tuesday. At one residence guns were taken from a vehicle owned by Elliott Taylor at his residence and then the thieves entered the residence of Tim and Frankie Wright through an unlocked garagedoor.The thieves searched their vehicles and took Frankie Wright's blue denim purse, but came no further into the house. Victims think the Thurlow Road incidents may have occurred at approximately 1:30 a.m. when a neighbor reported hearing a dog barking. Sheriff Beard said a suspect tried to use Wright's card at an automated teller at 4:27 a.m. Police are seeking a woman with black, shoulder-length hair driving a white Chevrolet Tahoe for questioning. Anyone with any information is asked to call the Sheriff's Office at 270-932-5641. Sheriff Beard said that the thieves modus operandi is to check vehicles for unlocked doors and search them for valuables. If no cars are in the driveway they check for unlocked doors on houses and garages. "People need to be aware this is going on and I urge them to start locking their doors," he said.

What's Your Story?

"Blessed is the one who perseveres under trial because, having stood the test, that person will receive the crown of life that the Lord has promised to those who love him."

James 1:12

You often hear it said that only you can define what success means to you. While this is certainly true, it doesn't go far enough. That is, the story of our life is something that only we can properly tell. We certainly rely on others to help us with the details, since no one remembers their own birth, or can know what happened while they were under anesthesia or otherwise unconscious, but it's up to us to create the guiding narrative of our own life story. And don't we all want there to be a story worth telling when it comes to our own life? While we are alive the story is necessarily unfinished, but as we get older we begin to see certain themes coming together. Whatever your life story is about, make sure that the way you live makes you a hero and not a villain. And like any good story, the parts that tell us the most are the trials and the struggles we go through. It's easy to be calm, cool and collected when everything is going smoothly. The real question is whether you can maintain your composure, and your values, when things start to fall apart?

It's not an every game occurrence. For junior pitcher, Majestee Hughes, it was her first in a lifetime occurrence. She pitched the first shut-out of her softball career against Metcalfe County Monday, May 4.

and three RBI's. Tylar Anne Corbin added on a hit accompanied by an RBI. The Lady Dragons final score was 10-0.

On Tuesday, May 5 the Lady Dragons traveled to Caverna, where they won 19-0. The freshman duo, Hannah Judd and Ivy Hedgespeth both racked up a total of seven hits which resulted in three RBI's each. Catcher, Zoe Vaughn joined them with a trio of RBI's as well.

Directly following the Caverna game, the girls hopped on the bus and rode across the county to Glasgow, where the Lady Scot-ties edged over the Lady Dragons by three runs. The final was 9-6.

Mony Matney and Majestee Hughes each finished the week with a win. The Lady Dragons won by one run over Campbellsville, with Mony pitching, 12-11.

Middle school players Abigail Keltner, Kiley McCubbins, and Sara Jo Calhoun played smart and each took a walk. Keltner added three RBI's alongside Hannah Judd, who also let her bat fly with four hits, while Ivy Hedgespeth led the team with a whopping four RBI's.

Hughes finished the work week just like she started, in winning fashion. Defense on both teams played a factor in the win, the Lady Dragons allowed only two runs, while they inched an extra run to win, 3-2.

District play begins next week in Hart County. The Lady Dragons will take on Caverna Monday.

Goodbye, Child Care Costs ...
Hello, College Savings Opportunities

If you're a working parent, you know firsthand about the difficulties of finding quality, affordable care for your children. But eventually, your kids head off to school, and those child care bills go away, or at least diminish greatly. When that happens, you could start putting away money for another one of your children's milestones: college.

Just how expensive is child care? Costs vary greatly among the 50 states, but the national average for a 4-year-old at a child care center is approximately $7,880 per year, according to Child Care Aware of America, a child care resource and referral agency sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. What could you do with this money once your child enters kindergarten?

Of course, not all schools provide all-day kindergarten, so you still may have some child care costs. For the purposes of illustration, let's presume you can finally say "goodbye" to child care costs when your child is in first grade, and let's also assume your child is attending a public school. If you invested that $7,880 every year for 12 years, until your child reaches 18, you could accumulate more than $150,000 in a tax-advantaged college savings account, such as a 529 plan — assuming the money was placed in a hypothetical investment that earned 7% per year. (Keep in mind, though, that the word "hypothetical" means exactly that, because whenever you put money in any variable investment, there are no guarantees.)

Actually, earnings in a 529 plan accumulate and are distributed tax free, provided they are used for qualified education expenses. (529 plan distributions not used for qualified expenses may be subject to federal and state income tax and a 10% IRS penalty on the earnings.) Also, your 529 plan contributions may be deductible from your state taxes. However, 529 plans vary, so be sure to check with your tax advisor regarding deductibility. A 529 plan offers other benefits, too. For one thing, the lifetime contribution limits are generous; while these limits vary by state, some plans allow contributions well in excess of $200,000. And a 529 plan is flexible: If your child decides against college or vocational school, you can transfer the unused funds to another family member, tax and penalty free.

A 529 plan is a widely used choice for college savings, but it is not your only option. You could also consider a Coverdell Education Savings Account, which, like a 529 plan, can generate tax-free earnings if the money is used for higher education expenses. You can typically only put in a maximum of $2,000 per year to a Coverdell account, but it lets you use the funds on K-12 and college expenses.

Whichever college-savings vehicle you choose, it will take discipline on your part to continue investing in it, year after year. And after freeing yourself from those child care bills, you can certainly think of other ways to use this "found" money. That's why you might want to automatically move money from your checking or savings account to your 529 plan, Coverdell account or other investment earmarked for college. As your income rises over the years, you can increase the amount of these automatic transfers.

In any case, once those child care bills stop, you can put that money to work on your children's behalf. Make the most of this opportunity.

to a regional champion-ship.

It was the school's fifth consecutive regional track and field title.

A total team effort, throughout the day, resulted in a regional win for the Dragons.

The boys, as a team, scored 133 points. Louisville Holy Cross was second with 125 and Kentucky Country Day and Louisville Collegiate tied for third with 50 points.

First place finishes for the Dragons were: Trevor Wright in the 800 and 1600 meters; Noah Slinker, 110 meter hurdles; Dominique Compton, triple jump; and the 4 x 400 meter relay team.

The Lady Dragons finished fourth as a team behind Louisville Holy Cross, Kentucky Country Day and Presentation. Green County scored 78 points. Holy Cross won with 111 points, KCD had 95 and Presentation finished with 79.

First place finishes for the Lady Dragons were: Erin Jagers in the triple jump and 200 meter dash and Mikayla Talbott in the shot put event.

There were 14 participating teams in the meet.

"The girls' team finished fourth and they were only one point from third. This was a little disappointing because we had areas that we could have scored points, but did not. However, we knew going in that it was going to be a battle with the top four or five teams. I am excited for the opportunities that some of the girls have at competing at the state," said Head Coach James VanMeter.

"On the boys' side, we knew going in that it was a two-horse race, and it turned out to be just that. The battle between Green and Louisville Holy Cross turned out to be every bit of what it looked like to be on paper. There were many individuals that stepped up to the challenge. This allowed us to come out as regional champions. Like the girls, I look for the boys to be competitive at the state."

Dragons fall in two, defeat Hart County

By ANGELINA ALCOTT
SPORTS WRITER

Dragon Baseball traveled to cross-county rival's Taylor County diamond to start the week. The Dragons failed to score until the top of the fifth inning, the Cards already had put six runs on the board.

The Dragons made the inning count with McCubbins, Hodges and Bush all scoring, but the Cards matched the Dragons run for run in the fifth inning.

The only other run the Dragons would get during the rival game was in the top of the seventh inning when Levi Murphy hit a sacrifice fly to the center fielder which scored Colton Bush. The game ended in favor of the Cards, 10-4.

The Dragons took a loss at home Tuesday, May 5 against Ky. State ranked Elizabethtown High School. The Dragons squeezed in five runs.

Pauley, McCubbins, Hodges and Bush scored in the third inning. The Dragons' defense held the Panthers to just two more runs after the third inning. Bush scored once again in bottom of the fifth, but in the end the Dragons were outscored 18-5.

Third times a charm for the Dragons as they played against Hart County Wednesday, May 6. The Raiders scored early in the game, scoring the first two runs. They would fail to score any additional runs.

The Dragons scored for the first time in bottom of the fourth and held onto the lead the remainder of the game.

Collison allowed only two runs in the five innings pitched, with Murphy closing the game out. The Dragons offense capitalized on Hart County errors and a multitude of singles hit by Dragon players to win the game 7-2.

The Dragons welcome the Barren County Trojans Thursday at 5 p.m. and Kentucky County Day, Saturday at 10 a.m. The GCHS Alumni game will be Saturday afternoon as well.

Machine tool - A career worth looking into

BY CLEVIS JEFFRIES
 STAFF WRITER

"It's a very good program. I love it. It's hands-on. I'm looking to get certified in NIMS." These are the words of GCCHS student Anthony Curry in reference to the machine tool technology program at Green County Area Technology Center when speaking to Greensburg Rotary members May 5. GCATC instructor Barry Porter also shared with Rotary an overview of the machine tool technology program. "It is the nuts and bolts of everything," Porter said. According to Porter, the program serves students in grades 9-12 from Campbellsville, Green and Taylor Counties. He said the program offers four different classes from the basics and beyond. "The opportunities out of the machine tool field are unlimited," Porter said. He noted that the program allows students to eventually become machine operators, technicians, CNC programmers and even to advanced careers in machine tool operations including engineers. In his presentation, Porter asked for the support of businesses and individuals to encourage enrollment in the local machine tool program. He mentioned that students need to become career ready to become industry certified. To do so, Porter said, students must take the NIMS test, which is a two-part test, performance and online. During the performance section, he said, students are required to make a machine part following specific blueprint guidelines. Machine tool at GCATC, Porter said, also offers a TRACK program, which is a pre-apprenticeship program, preparing students for jobs in the field. He said, at present, the local area tech center has partnered with Murakami Manufacturing USA of Campbellsville to provide pre-apprenticeships in machine tool. "We're putting out some awesome students," Porter said. He mentioned the career fair held each March at the local center and a special project that his students are engaged in, the building of vehicles made for racing out of a three-inch in diameter round block of aluminum. Porter is seeking feedback on the possibility of an adoption program that will help financially support students in their machine tool endeavors, whether it be through industry certified testing or by the offering of scholarships. USDA seeks 2015 crops, stocks, inventories, values input

SPECIAL TO THE R-H

During the next several weeks, U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) will conduct two major mid-year surveys, the June Agricultural Survey and the June Area Survey. The agency will survey more than 2,400 farms across Kentucky to determine crop production and supplies levels in 2015. "Due to the widespread impact of its results, the June Agricultural Surveys are two of the most significant surveys NASS conducts," explained David Knopf, Kentucky State Statistician. "Information growers provide serves as the first clear sign of the prospective production and supply of major commodities in the United States for the 2015 crop year." NASS gathers the data for the June Agriculture Survey online, by mail, phone and/or farm visits. Growers will provide information on crop acreage, grain stocks, livestock inventory, cash rents, land values, and value of sales. NASS will compile and analyze the survey information and publish the results in a series of USDA reports, including the annual Acreage report and quarterly Grain Stocks report, both to be released June 30, 2015. Survey data contribute to NASS's monthly and annual Crop Production reports, as well as the annual Small Grains Summary and USDA's monthly World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates. As with all NASS surveys, information provided by respondents is kept strictly confidential, as required by federal law. All reports are available on the NASS website: www.nass.usda.gov. For more information on NASS surveys and reports, call the NASS Kentucky Field Office at 1-800-928-5277.

Seeing old photos and listening to the stories of growing up in Greensburg has become a very popular activity and a reason to log into Facebook. Coming to town, seeing a movie with friends, shopping with parents in the local stores, enjoying the soda fountain counters in the drug stores and so many more memories are shared from those delightful posts the rest of us love to read. They remind us of a time, when "gallivanting" was an activity, a fun one! Even as participation changes every year, it is the council's goal to identify and recognize the various forms of art and talent in the surrounding area. This year, with a few changes, we are calling this day, "Gallivantin' in Greensburg." Gallivanting means "to go or travel to many different places for pleasure." With the variety of the plans and our hopes that you will take part as much as possible, we think it is very fitting. We encourage you to mark your calendars, gather your family and join us for "Gallivantin' in Greensburg" Saturday, May 16 in downtown Greensburg. A schedule appears in this week's Record Herald.

that ever happened and pointed out Green Countians in the audience who were in college with him at the same time, taking the same classes and hanging out with him at the time.

"It comes out on the day we took the lead in the polling, 13 days before the election," he said. "I call that politically calculated."

Comer said after a 26-minute press conference in which he addressed the allegations, a movement has taken place.

"We got more calls and more online donations and had more people show up at our campaign offices around the state," he said. "Things are going great with the campaign."

Comer said one of his opponents, Hal Heiner, claimed no knowledge of the timing of the allegations on the May 6 edition of Kentucky sports radio, but a second opponent on the program, Matt Bevin, challenged Heiner's claim.

Comer said people are fed up with what they see as the dirtiest campaign in America this year and he predicts voter turnout will be 12 percent Tuesday.

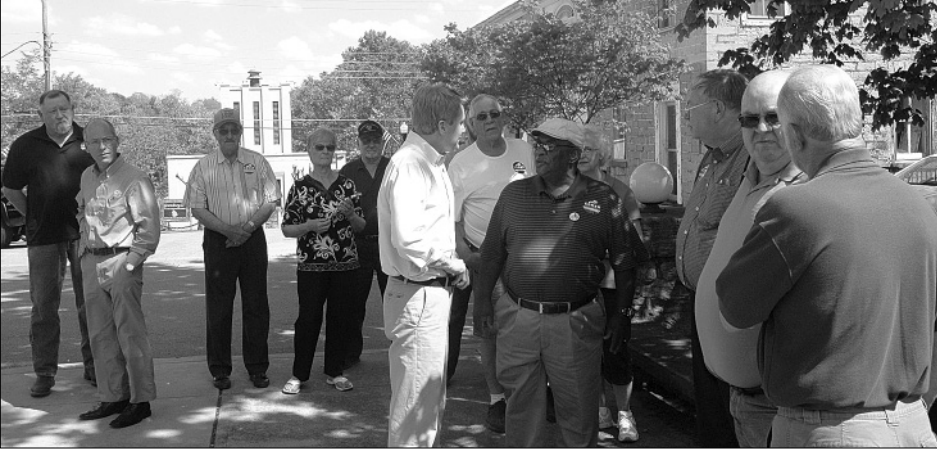

"There have been more negative ads in this campaign and many are not going to vote," he said. "I got 520,000 votes when I ran for Commissioner of Agriculture, and we think it is only going to take 55,000 votes to win this primary. If county's like Green can have 25 percent turnout, you will be in the top 16 counties in the state and that is how significant your vote is."

Comer spent the rest of the rally telling why he and Lt. Gov. candidate Chris McDaniel is the best choice for Kentucky and for Green County.

"I wouldn't be here today if it weren't for you, he said. "I want to work with (State Sen.) David Givens and with Judge (John) Frank and the fiscal court, I want to work with everybody because we have an opportunity here to help the people of Green County by electing somebody that of you have a problem, all you have to do is pick up the phone and call, or send a text."

nearly 1,000 miles of the existing Tennessee Gas Pipeline, which runs through Green County, into an NGL pipeline from Pennsylvania to Texas. The plan is to "abandon" some of the lengths of those pipelines and repurpose the "abandoned" pipelines, reversing the flow and instead of flowing natural gas, flowing natural gas liquids from the northeast to the Gulf.

Kinder Morgan, owner of TGP, filed official paperwork with FERC to "abandon" certain sections and beef up the remaining pipelines with new compressor stations.

Kinder Morgan said the project involves the abandonment and conversion of approximately 964 miles of natural gas service on TGP, the construction of approximately 200 miles of new pipeline from Louisiana to Texas, and 155 miles of new laterals in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

The pipeline, which will provide connectivity to major processing and fractionation hubs in the basin, will terminate in Mont Belvieu, Texas.

If the project is approved, TGP will transfer the abandoned line to Utica Marcellus Texas Pipeline, LLC which would convert and operate the line as a natural gas liquids transportation service. FERC said public comments should focus on potential environmental effects, reasonable alternatives and measures to avoid or lessen environmental impacts. The comments are due May 18.

Comments are to be submitted at www.ferc.gov using either the eComment or eFiling features or traditional mail. Call (202)502-8258 for more information.

Primary election for state candidates is Tuesday

treasurer and commissioner of agriculture. Democrats will choose candidates for secretary of state and state treasurer. A successful lawsuit challenging election-eering restrictions has brought changes for the primary. Kentucky Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes said the State Board of Elections has approved and filed an emergency administrative regulation prohibiting electioneering within 100 feet of the entrance to a polling place on Election

Day. The emergency administrative regulation, which is effective immediately, does not apply to private property. In addition to the private property exception, the emergency administrative regulation does not prohibit exit polling and does not apply to bumper stickers affixed to a vehicle that is within the 100-foot zone for a reasonable amount of time in which to vote. The emergency administrative regulation comes in the wake of an April 28 Opinion by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit that a Kentucky statute prohibiting electioneering within 300 feet of a polling place was unconstitutional. Green County precincts with locations and poll officers scheduled for election day are:

Chris Jessie, KTC District 4 public information officer. “The current studies serve as the first step in establishing project goals, identifying environmental concerns and evaluating preliminary alternatives.” Two conceptual alternatives for the US 68 Greensburg Connector are recommended to move forward in consideration during the design phase, Jesse said. Alternative 1 (the green alternative on the Greensburg map) would include minor improvements along existing US 68 and replacing the existing bridge over the Green River. The total cost for this alternative could range from $12.1 to $14.4 million. Alternative 2 (the yellow alternative on the Greensburg map) is a new connector around Greensburg starting on US 68 at the Vaughn Curve, crossing KY 61 about ¼-mile north of Patterson Road, crossing Green River and ending at KY 3535 in northern Greensburg. This alternative will be developed in three phases that will include initially the segment from KY 61 to KY 417 with a cost of $8.7 million, then a second phase from KY 417 to KY 3535 with a cost of $13 million and a third phase from US 68 to KY 61 with a cost of $11.8 million. The total cost for all three combined phases would be $33.5 million. “These recommended improvements for the US 68 Corridor and the Greensburg Connector Project are in the initial stages of the design phase of the project development process and as funding becomes available will move forward from that point toward construction,” Jesse said. Also in Green County, the recommendation is to widen US 68 to include paved shoulder and a truck climbing lane at Russell Creek

Hill (number 11 on the US 68 Corridor map.) The cost estimate for this improvement is $2,575,000 for design, right-of-way, utilities and construction; Realign US 68 to improve the horizontal curve referred to as “Vaughn Curve” (number 12 on US 68 Corridor map.) The cost estimate for this improvement is $3,780,000 for design, right-of-way, utilities and construction; And to realign US 68 north of KY 218 and south of Russell Creek Hill (number 13 on the US 68 Corridor map.) The cost estimate for this improvement is $21,470,000 for design, right-of-way, utilities and construction. In Metcalfe County, recommendations are to realign US 68 with KY 70 (number 4 on the US 68 Corridor map) to improve safety at the intersection. The cost estimate for this improvement is $3,535,000 for design, right-of-way, utilities and construction; Add a truck climbing lane and realign US 68 to improve the horizontal curves and grades north of KY 70 to south of the Green County Line (number 5 on the US 68 Corridor map.) The cost estimate for this improvement is $7,745,000 for design, right-of-way, utilities and construction; And to realign US 68 and replace the existing bridge over Caney Fork (number 6 on the US 68 Corridor map.) The cost estimate for this improvement is $10,570,000 for design, right-of-way, utilities and construction. National Day of Prayer – “Lord, Hear Our Cry”

R-H photos by Ann-Michael Tucker

The American Legion Color Guard presented the flags and led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag during the ceremony.

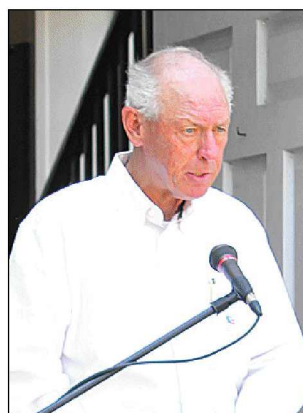

There was a large crowd in attendance for the National Day of Prayer ceremony held at the historic Old Courthouse in downtown Greensburg. This year's theme was “Lord, Hear Our Cry” as inspired by 1 Kings 8:28.

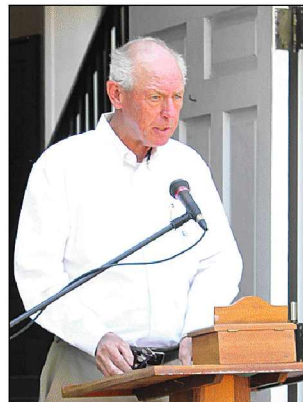

Bonnie Shuffett, left, and Amy Curry participated in the Prayer Walk hosted by Greensburg United Methodist Church and, Pastor, Rev. Dale Curry by writing their prayer requests on a tablecloth and then praying for ten minutes while walking.

Debbie Bagby provided special music to those in attendance with God Bless America and a spiritual hymn followed by Joyce Vaughn who read the Lord's Prayer from Psalm 23.

Betty Jo Shuffett, program coordinator, addressed the crowd at the Green County National Day of Prayer Thursday, May 7. She was followed by Green County Judge/Executive John Frank who welcomed those in attendance and Greensburg Mayor Lisle Cheatham who gave his greetings.

C.W. Goff speaks to the audience about the importance of putting God first in our community and then leads the crowd in a prayer for the families and churches of Green County. Other prayer volunteers were Jeff Eastham and Walt Parrott, Jr.

Amy Curry walks around the walking path at Greensburg United Methodist Church park in silent prayer.
